TOURISTS INVASION!

LARGE PARTY HERE FOR TWO DAYS

Vessel In Drydock

Peninsula Hotel lounge on the ground floor was yesterday invaded by an army of tourists, numbering about seventy-five, shortly after 9.30 p.m. They crowded the lounge and were in animated mood as they went through the formalities of registering.

Reason for the "invasion" is the drydocking of the s.s. Nanking, an Eastern, Australian and Oriental Line vessel, at Kowloon Dock, where she will remain for the next two days. Her passengers in the meanwhile, are being accommodated at the Peninsula Hotel and will have two days at their disposal in which to spend sight-seeing locally.

The tourists, who are mainly from "down under" arrived yesterday from Shanghai, when the vessel went straight in to drydock. They were transported from Hungshom in two Hong Kong and Shanghai Hotel motor-buses, which made several trips.

The party have spent the last few weeks in North China and Japan, and are on their way back to Australia.

Mrs. Davies, wife of Mr. D. Davies, of the Colonial Secretariat Office, was the victim of a hand-bag snatching incident, which occurred shortly before 3 p.m. yesterday afternoon, whilst she was waiting to board a motor bus, at Wong Nei Ching Road near Broadwood Road.

A Chinese youth came up from behind and taking Mrs. Davies by surprise, snatched her bag making off rapidly before any attention could be aroused.

The handbag, which was valued at $58 contained $7 in cash besides other articles, was later found abandoned in car No. 1407 parked in the Central district. The money was missing.

The incident occurred in Des Voeux Road and Leung was apprehended only after a long chase along Jubilee Street into King Lung Street, where he was finally arrested by a waterfront searcher.

EDUCATION IN HONG KONG

St. Paul's Girls College

In previous articles on this subject we have already given a short account of the Diocesan Boys School, St. Mary's School, and the Central British School, and now we come to an educational establishment which is very firmly established in the affections of the Colony, namely, St. Paul's Girls College.

Credit must be given where credit is due, and there can be no doubt that this school owes much of the success it enjoys to the great ability, and the wise guidance of the very charming Chinese lady who has filled the post of Principal for many years and who will, in fact, be celebrating the twenty-first anniversary of her appointment in a few weeks time.

Dr. F. C. Woo, M.B.E., D.Ped. (known affectionately to so many as Dr. Katie Woo) was appointed to the post of Principal on her return from England in 1916, just a year after the school opened its doors in Calne Road, with pupils numbering fifty. These numbers increased very rapidly for the aim of the school has ever been to provide a high-grade Chinese education for girls of the Colony, and to follow this up by inculcating ideas of public service and good citizenship. In addition therefore, to the usual scholastic education the pupils are encouraged to join such organizations as the Girl Guides, the Wah Wong, or Y.W.C.A. and the Ministering Children's League.

Miss F. C. Woo, M.B.E., Principal of St. Paul's Girls College.

NEWSPAPER LAW CRITICISED

Echo To Libel Action

In the course of legal submissions in the re-hearing of an action brought by Wong Peng-kwai, of No. 35 Staunton Street, who successfully claimed $866.16 on June 8, from Lam Chung-ling, of No. 38 d'Aguiar Street, Mr. Peter H. Sin made criticisms to the effect that the Printers and Publishers Amendment Ordinance of 1930 was badly drafted, because it did not clearly state the powers of the Registrar of Newspapers, at the Summary Court yesterday before the Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell.

The claimant was represented by Mr. W. A. Mackinlay, of Messrs. Deacons, while Mr. Peter H. Sin appeared on behalf of defendant.

DAMAGES AWARDED

Outlining the case for the defence, Mr. Sin said that Lam Chung-ling was one of the four defendants in a recent libel action brought by Chau Kung-mau, in respect of an article published in the "Keng Po," since defunct. Damages were awarded against them and Wong Peng-kwai, as executor of the bond, was called upon by the Registrar of Newspapers, for payment, the defendant, with the exception of Lam Chung-ling, having absconded. Wong Peng-kwai then brought a claim for the amount against Lam Chung-ling, and was given judgment.

Continuing, Mr. Sin said that on June 8 judgment was given against defendant, and four days later, upon his application, an order was made for the case to be re-heard, submitting that his client was not liable at all to claimant, who executed a bond for the newspaper in pursuance of the Printers and Publishers Amendment Ordinance of 1930, as the law, though it mentioned printers and publishers, was concerned solely with newspapers.

DISCRETIONARY POWERS

Mr. Sin went on to say that, under the Ordinance, the Registrar of Newspapers had discretionary powers to direct that the money deposited with him should be paid out in respect of such damages and costs as might be ordered by the Court. The Registrar of Newspapers could not, however, compel the executor of the bond to pay the judgment debt; if the paper, which had closed down, and the news-vendor were to be sued jointly and damages were awarded.

Mr. Sin further stated that, under the circumstances, the claimant in this action was called upon to pay on behalf of the paper only, and not for defendant, who was the printer. There could be no other construction than that the Ordinance was drafted solely against newspapers.

Mr. Sin stated that the reason why an appeal was not brought was because his client could not afford to do so.

The hearing of the case adjourned till July 22, at 10 a.m.

BURGLAR SENTENCED

Two Ngau, 35, unemployed, who had committed a burglary with several others at No. 424, Shanghai Street, on February 17, when they stole two sewing machines, was arrested on Sunday and charged before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday.

Detective Sergt. Forrest who prosecuted said that one of the machines which was in a shop for repair, was recognised by a folk of the Kowloon Branch of the Singer Sewing Machine Co. The Police were then informed of the fact and a woman was detained. It was later learned that the woman bought the machine from defendant without knowing it was stolen property.

The total value of the two machines was $200. The one recovered cost $110.

Defendant who had two previous convictions against him was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

GAMBLING CHARGE

Leung Ping Kwok who did not appear in Court yesterday before Mr. W. Schofield had his bail of $25 estreated while nine other defendants who were charged with gambling at No. 7 Chung Shing Street, a gambling house, run by the first defendant, had their bail of $2 each estreated. The sum of $3.40 which was taken from the table was ordered to be given to the poor box.

EVADING BUS FARES

Tricks That Did Not Work

It was alleged by the prosecution, conducted by Inspector Rogers, at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, that Fong To, aged 23, clerk, had attempted to evade his payment of bus fare by pretending to be engaged in a cinema programme when he was approached by a conductor on Sunday, on board a bus, operating on the No. 6 route.

It was said that defendant nodded his head and said in English to the conductor who knew very little of the language that he had ticket. He then intended to stop at Dundas Street but was prevented from doing so by a ticket inspector who insisted on defendant producing his ticket for inspection. Defendant then admitted that he had no ticket and tendered his fare.

The case was remanded for 24 hours by Mr. K. M. A. Barnett.

A NEW TRICK

Another case of attempting to evade payment of bus fare was brought before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. The offender in this case was Lo Wing-kuen, aged 18, a student who appeared on $25 bail.

Defendant exploited a new trick to deceive the inspector. It was said that Lo had produced a ticket of June 1936, the colour of which was similar to that of the one for the current month. The student pleaded that he had lent his month ticket to a friend whom he could not trace. This case was also remanded for 24 hours.

ARMED ROBBERY CHARGE

Chui Kee, aged 33, unemployed, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon charged with armed robbery at an unnumbered hut in Sai Wan Village, Shaikwan on June 13.

In outlining the case Inspector Darlin stated that at about 3.20 a.m. on June 13, the defendant and two others, went to the hut on the hillside at Sai Wan Village Shaikwan, after the door open and went inside. They attacked the inmates, who were husband and wife, but the couple struggled with the defendant who was armed with a knife, and who attempted to strike the husband with it. The complainant caught hold of the knife by the blade and sustained a cut on his right hand. The complainant's wife went and called the first policeman she saw, and brought him back to the scene where he (the constable) took the complainants and the defendant to the station.

Chan Kam, the complainant, then went into the witness box and stated that on June 13 he was asleep when he heard his wife shouting "Yuen Wong" "Yuen Wong." Witness got out of bed to see what was wrong and he saw two men, who had masks over their faces, and the defendant with a knife in his hand. Witness sent his wife to look for a policeman and while his wife was gone a friend of his came to his assistance and succeeded in disarming the defendant.

Chau Mui, wife of the complainant, then gave corroborative evidence and after further evidence was taken accused was committed to stand his trial at the next Criminal Sessions.

DEMANDING MONEY WITH MENACES

Four men made their appearance before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon charged with obtaining the sum of $30 from Li Ching by menace and force. The defendants were discharged while the second defendant was remanded until to-day for judgment.

The complainant stated that the men came to his house in Upper Lascar Road, June 11, and said they were detectives from Canton. They then took him to the Lok Hei Tung Tea House, and said that they had warrants for his arrest and came here to take him back to Sun Wei for trial as he had stolen money from his father. The defendant then asked him (complainant) for $200 as compensation as they had spent over $100 in looking him, but they finally agreed to take $30 which witness paid. Witness later reported the matter to the police and had the four men arrested.

UNLICENSED DRIVER IN COURT

Following a traffic accident which occurred at Waterloo Road on Sunday when a pedestrian was knocked down by a car and sustained a fractured arm and several bad cuts on the forehead, it was discovered that Tommy Ng, 27, driver of the vehicle, was not a licensed driver.

When Ng appeared before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday charged with driving without licence, Traffic-Sergt. Macvey, who prosecuted asked his Worship to order defendant to pay compensation to the pedestrian who would likely have to stay in hospital for three weeks. His Worship replied that it was not a case for compensation, and imposed a fine of $10 on defendant.

MURDER SUSPECTS FURTHER REMANDED

Ko Wah Tak and Leung Wong, two of the four men held in custody in connection with the murder of the late Mr. David Chen See, were brought before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Police Court yesterday.

The Proven STOMACH REMEDY for Bad Cases

Amazing evidence of the remarkable speed with which indigestion and stomach pain can be stopped has been revealed by medical experiments and X-ray photographs of actual cases. These prove the ingredients of 'Bisurated' Magnesia to be the quickest-acting and most effective known to medical science. Within 5 minutes a teaspoonful of 'Bisurated' Magnesia in a little water produces complete relief in cases where numerous other remedies had failed entirely.

Its Action Explained—
Simply take a teaspoonful of the powder in a little water. The moment this soothing draught reaches the tortured stomach it begins to soothe the sour, fermenting undigested food. The contents of the stomach become as bland and soothing as milk to the sensitive stomach lining. The pain quickly lessens and presently disappears. By following up the treatment after each meal, your harassed stomach will soon learn its tenderness and grow strong, until you can eat whatever you like and enjoy every meal without fear of wind and pain.

A NOTED
ENGLISH DOCTOR

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."

Trans-Atlantic Flights

Through fog, sleet and wind from Newfoundland to Dublin flew Captain Sir John Alcock and Lieutenant Sir Arthur Whitten Brown in 1919 to make the first transatlantic air-crossing, win the "Daily Mail's" £10,000 prize, and carry out what most of the world declared to be no more than a brilliant "stunt."

Still considered "stunts" were the transatlantic flights in the same year of the British dirigible R.34, in 1924 of the German-American airship "Los Angeles," in 1927 of Colonel Charles Augustus Lindbergh and Italian Commander Francesco de Pinedo, in 1930 of J. Errol Boyd and Harry F. Connor and the German "Dornier Whale" flying-boat piloted by Captain von Gronau, in 1932 of the Italian flying-boat squadron under Marshal Italo Balbo's command, in 1933 of James Allan and Amy Molison.

That these exploits were the prelude to the trial transatlantic air crossings with mail which began next month between Newfoundland and Fynes, an ancient fishing village in the West of Ireland, now labelled Atlantic Air Base No. 1, was a thought which no-one could grasp but a handful of far-seeing aviators and business men.

MAYO EXPERIMENT

When Whitten Brown after his pioneer flight prophesied that the Atlantic would regularly be crossed by flying boats by 1929, he was laughed at. But Sir Arthur was not many years out in his prediction, as was last week proved by the announcement that the flying boat had solved the problem of regular transatlantic flight, that the craft used will be the Mayo "composite aircraft."

Designed by Major J. Mayo, this consists of two machines, a smaller one moored on top of a larger machine by couplings enormously strong yet easy to separate.

According to the well-tried Mayo plan, the combined engine power of the flying boat and the seaplane will be sufficient to lift the two aircraft without an exceptionally long run. When a safe height is reached and the seaplane has attained its full flying speed, the two machines will be uncoupled, the seaplane continuing its journey over the Atlantic, the flying boat returning to its base.

The Mayo composite's upper component has an effective cruising range of 3,500 miles with two tons of mails aboard, such efficiency that the double Atlantic crossing will be possible for £80 in fuel. Fuel cost of an average-sized transatlantic liner is around £690 for a single trip with Diesel oil at around current prices.

At Atlantic Air Base Number One, engineers were this week busy installing radio, directional apparatus which will guide pilots far over the ocean. Air Ministry officials were sending up hydrogen-filled balloons to determine weather conditions.

£60-A-CROSSING

Only the first stage in transatlantic crossings is next month's experimental flight with mails. In less than 12 months passenger services will operate regularly between England and the United States and "round the world" between London, New York, San Francisco, Honolulu, Hong Kong, Singapore, and back to London. The total price of a transatlantic crossing will be £60; of a round-the-world tour, less than £400. Up to last week, no insurance company had arranged for coverage of passengers.

To thoroughly test the transatlantic service before regular passenger services are started, other craft besides the Mayo will make trial flights during the summer. Chief of these will be two of the Empire flying boats constructed by Short Bros., of Rochester, each of which has been adapted for the purpose.

Named respectively "Caledonia" and "Cambria" both will make a series of flights carrying test-loads of mails. Another experimental craft is the "Albatross" high-powered, four-engined monoplane, now being built for the Air Ministry and described as an improved version of the "Comet" racing plane.

JOINT OPERATION

The future transatlantic air service will be operated by a joint company launched by the Governments of Great Britain, the Irish Free State, Canada, and Newfoundland. As the company which developed the Empire air routes, Imperial Airways, Ltd., has been nominated to conduct the service. In return for landing facilities to be granted the joint company by the United States Government, Pan-American Airways, Ltd., American equivalent to Imperial Airways, will be granted landing facilities by the governments of the four other companies. Pan-American will also participate on a basis of reciprocity with the joint company.

Control of commercial, technical and operating matters has been secured to Imperial Airways through its stockholding and through joint company's articles of association, subject to the superior jurisdiction of the Board of Directors on questions of major policy.

Next month's flights have been financed by the British Government, and when the joint company assumes responsibility for flying operations, it will receive an annual subsidy from the Governments concerned on an agreed basis.

Of the total subsidy required, Canada will contribute 20 per cent., subject to a maximum of £75,000 the Irish Free State 5 per cent., subject to a maximum of £12,000, and Newfoundland an amount to be agreed upon between its own government and that of the United Kingdom. The remainder will be made up by the U.K. Government.

D.S.O. DOCTOR STRUCK OFF

Following a complaint by a woman, the General Medical Council, sitting in London, ordered the name of Dr. Douglas Chetham Pith, D.S.O., to be struck from the medical register.

Real Village For Scots Exhibition

Overseas visitors to next year's Scottish Empire Exhibition in Glasgow will see a complete Highland village clustered round a real loch—in the heart of a Glasgow park, states the "Bulletin."

Plans for the Highland village have been approved by the Exhibition's Highland Committee, and shortly go before the Dean of Guild Court.

Dr. Colin Sinclair, who designed the Highland village, at Glasgow's 1911 Exhibition, has prepared a layout which shows various types of Highland dwellings—from the humble Hebridean black house, with a peat fire burning in the middle of the earth floor, to the "Big House" or chief's castle—all grouped round a miniature loch with a mountain burn tumbling down the hillside.

NINE BUILDINGS

A concert hall seating 300 people, an inn, a pre-Reformation "cell" (or church), and a smithy will also be erected. Altogether there will be nine buildings, including a modern cottage of the type now being erected in the Highlands.

Traditional industries—tweed and rug making, basket work, and lace making—will be shown; and the best examples of Celtic art and craftsmanship will be brought from the crafts to the Exhibition for display.

A committee headed by Sir Alexander MacEwen is planning to make the clachan as representative as possible of the life and work of the Gael.

NEW FILM
Barrier Reef Setting

On their way to the Barrier Reef, where they will pick a suitable location for the new Australian film "Grand Exit", Messrs. A. R. Harwood and Cedric Johnson, arrived in Sydney recently. They were accompanied by Mr. Nelson Burns, author of the scenario. "Grand Exit" will be produced by New World Films, Ltd., a Melbourne organisation. After the taking of scenes on a Barrier Reef island, the concluding "shots" will be made in the Sydney studios of Cinesound.

Mr. Harwood said yesterday that he expected "Grand Exit" to be in production within a few weeks.

The cast had already been partly chosen, and a Melbourne girl, Miss Joyce Hunt, would play the feminine lead. Mr. Sid Beck would also be included in the cast. About 10 weeks would be spent in photographing the tropical scenes. Messrs. Harwood, Johnson, and Burns, will leave for Townsville in the Kanimbla to-day. They expect that location will be fixed either at Green Island or Magnetic Island, in the Barrier Reef.

Mary Maguire, young Australian actress who was taken to Hollywood by Miles Mander, is to be starred by Warner Brothers. The first picture will be "Alcatraz". Later she is to play in a version of Edgar Allan Poe's "The Pit" and the Pendulum.

PERSONAL PROPERTY

Two of the outstanding names in the film firmament are co-starred in "Personal Property" which will be the attraction at the King's Theatre to-day. They are Jean Harlow and Robert Taylor, making their first appearance together in the comedy-drama, based on the H. M. Harwood stage play, "Man in Possession", which enjoyed a hit run on the New York stage.

In the supporting cast are Reginald Owen, one of Hollywood's outstanding character actors, Una O'Connor, who played Norma Shearer's maid in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street", Henrietta Crossman, veteran actress of the Broadway stage, E. E. Clive, Cora Witherspoon, Maria Shelton, Forrester Harvey, Lionel Braham and Barnett Parker.

BORDERLAND

"Hopalong Cassidy" turns secret service man in "Borderland," his latest screen adventure, which opens at the Alhambra Theatre to-day.

"Borderland," a fast-moving story of the Rio Grande country, deals with a bandit, played by Stephen Morris, whose depredations have aroused the Texas Rangers and the Mexican secret police. He eludes both with equal abandon. In order to get him, it becomes necessary for Cassidy, who does "he play" his part that he succeeds in convincing his two best pals that he has gone "bad."

WEDDING PRESENT

The first of a series of screen plays to be produced by the newly-organized B.P. Schulberg studio for release through Paramount, "Wedding Present," is showing at the Oriental Theatre to-morrow and Thursday with Joan Bennett and Cary Grant in starring roles. The film is a fast-moving romantic comedy set against a background of newspaper life. Heading the stellar supporting cast are George Bancroft, Conrad Nagel, Gene Lockhart, Inez Courtney, Edward Brophy and Damon Ford. Richard Wallace was director.

ANNABELLA

Hollywood, thirsting for new faces and new talent, is continually raiding Europe for stars. The latest capture is Annabella, charming young lady from France. Annabella makes her trip to America from England, where she has recently played in two films. One, "Wings of the Morning," is shortly to be shown in London. It has been made in technicolor with Henry Fonda as Annabella's co-star.

The second, "Under the Red Robe," has Conrad Veidt as Annabella's leading man. It was completed only a short time ago.

Both films were made for New World Productions, which have affiliations with the American Twentieth Century-Fox company. It is the latter who have put Annabella under contract, and she will play in two pictures for them this year.

"CIRCUS LIFE"

Pianist's Wife As Secretary

"I had been married only 24 hours when my husband told me I was to be his secretary and gave me a letter to write," said Miss Benno Moiselwitsch when she arrived in Sydney recently. "I had no idea just what that was going to mean, but now the work keeps me so busy that when there is a lull I get quite bored and nervous. I write all my husband's correspondence by hand, and it is ruining my handwriting, which, at the end of a letter, develops into a scrawl. I always sign myself 'secretary,' and use my maiden initials."

"At one time I used to paste my husband's programmes in a book, but it got so bulky that now I rewrite them out by hand, with all references in a book. I also keep all his Press cuttings, and now Boris, our son, is being interviewed at the age of six years, so I have started a Press cutting book for him."

A DUMMY PIANO

"We were married in Shanghai, and since then it has been a circus life. We travel, about with golf bags and a dummy piano, which my husband, who is very considerate of neighbours, uses to practise his exercises. He always takes it to the artists' room, and warms his hands practising scales before a concert. Other artists we have known have used electric hot water bottles or bowls of hot water."

"My own interests," repeated Mrs. Moiselwitsch. "As you see they are all absorbed in my husband's work. Even frocks have diminishing in importance, and I had only 10 days to prepare for my trip to Australia; but as I usually wear a great deal of black, and always plainly made clothes, it was sufficient."

AUSTRALIAN MUSIC

"Must Adopt Aboriginal Themes"

Mr. Benno Moiselwitsch, the famous pianist, who arrived in Sydney to give a season of recitals, believes that the only way Australian music can ever be really Australian is by adopting aboriginal ideas and themes.

"I am talking now about composers for the piano," he said. "The trend since the war has been in other directions. The cause, I think, is the vogue for impressionism, Debussy and Ravel. It is true, showed that impressionism can be individual and vital, as applied to the piano; but later composers find that their impressionistic ideas need the vehicle of a full orchestra, with its wider range of tonal colour. Fifteen years ago some of the young English writers, like Arnold Bax, showed great promise as contributors to the piano literature. But at present Bax and his fellow-musicians are all busy writing symphonies and tone-poems and big choral works. We poor pianists are left stranded."

"NOISY, ANGULAR STYLE"

"The present-day idea of music is all percussion—percussion. This noisy, angular style reflects the disturbed condition of the modern world, I know; but I cannot reconcile myself to it. I find it difficult to believe that such music will live, or that the future of music lies in that direction at all. Surely people will need, as they always have done in the past, a little sentiment, a little warm human feeling."

"In America, there is one composer who interests me. His name is John Powell. Unlike his contemporaries, who mainly echo the prevailing moods of Europe, Powell has worked up the native music of the negroes into works of notable simplicity and power. I suppose that, if any music could be called 'typically American,' his can be. Yet he has only a small following."

"The negro idiom seems to be the one thing that gives American music a distinctive character. In the same way, I think that the only way Australian music could ever become really Australian would be by an adoption of aboriginal ideas and themes. I am glad to hear that a musician of the standing of Mr. Alfred Hill has set out to study the music of the aborigines. Although that primitive community has been set apart from the white population, it has its roots in the Australian soil."

BREWERY STRIKE SETTLED

Officials of the Chinese Bureau of Social Affairs held a conference with representatives of the workers, who are demanding a bonus corresponding to four days' pay for every month of work completed. No satisfactory settlement had been reported reached.

The strike was called at 10 a.m. and at 1.15 p.m. the police were requested to effect the entrenched workers. The Reserve Unit had then been at the scene for about 25 minutes, but the Russian Regiment, S.V.C., had not yet been called. The main grille gates were closed and had been heavily chained by the strikers, and the police were asked by the management to force an entrance. This difficult task was carried out under the direction of Mr. W. E. Fairbairn, Assistant Commissioner of Police, and Supt. J. Sinclair, and tear-gas was used while the police were subjected to showers of beer bottles. A foreign member of the Reserve Unit, Sub-Inspr. C. R. Jones, and an Indian member were slightly injured by bottles, but did not go to hospital.

TEAR GAS INTRODUCED

Tear-gas was effectively introduced into the stairways and the lift well as the workers barricaded themselves upstairs.

One platoon of the Russian Regiment was summoned from Pootoo Road at 1.50 p.m. and was placed on duty guarding the main gate. Upon the opening of the gates

ARMY COURT MARTIAL

Superior Officer Struck

Pte. John O. McKay, of the 1st Battalion, the Seaforth Highlanders, was charged before a District Court Martial yesterday, with striking Lance-Corporal R. Milne of the same regiment on June 11. A plea of "not guilty" was entered by accused.

Major J. C. L. Yale, R.A. (President), Captain J. B. Jeffreys R.U.R., and Lieut. F. C. Minshull-Ford, R.W.F., comprising the Court, while the Prosecuting Officer was Capt. J. S. H. Douglas, Seaforth, and the Defending Officer was Lieut. C. F. Allen, Seaforth.

Captain Douglas stated that he would seek to prove that on the night in question, accused had a late pass from Victoria Barracks which enabled him to be out till 9.30 p.m. He failed however, to report to the Guard Commander, and was eventually found in his room at 10.15 p.m. in a condition of drunkenness.

He would submit that in the Army there were no grades of drunkenness and since the accused was able to walk, he was also able to recognise the N.C.O. who was wearing his badges of office when he was struck by accused.

FAILED TO REPORT

L/Cpl. Hall said that when accused failed to report, he left word for him to be brought up as soon as he (accused) returned. Pte. Walker brought accused into the Guard Room, and witness noticed that the latter was under the influence of drink by his staggering walk and breath.

Witness ordered accused to be confined to a cell for the night.

The next morning witness noticed that accused had a black eye but he did not ask questions about it. Nobody could have had access to the cell without witness's knowledge during the night.

L/Cpl. Milne said that when accused was in the cell, he and Pte. Mattison attempted to assist him in removing his spats and boots. Mattison removed one boot but accused then insisted on taking off the other himself, though with difficulty.

Accused became abusive and suddenly struck out at witness, delivering a sharp blow behind the ear which temporarily dazed him. Witness did not retaliate but departed from the cell with Mattison, later returning with handcuffs which were clapped on accused.

ACCUSED STRUCK?

Witness stated, emphatically in answer to cross-examination, that neither he nor Mattison struck accused at any time. Asked why he remained within striking distance, knowing that accused was in a violent frame of mind, witness replied that he was attempting to pacify the accused.

Lt. Allen stated that accused would say he was struck and would completely deny the prosecution's version of the incident.

After further hearing, the case was remanded till this morning.

POLICE REPORTS

Included in the Police reports for the week-end were three motor mishaps which occurred on Sunday, and in one case a Chinese subsequently succumbed to his injuries in hospital.

The fatal accident occurred when Mr. A. A. Alvarez, driving a car near the Empress Hotel, Connaught Road Central, at 9.30 a.m. yesterday, ran into a Chinese who was taken to the Queen Mary Hospital and succumbed at 11 p.m. Tommy Ng, of 154, Tungking Road, was driving his car in Waterloo Road, near Argyle Street, when he ran into a man who was later admitted to Kowloon Hospital.

The third case was one in which Mr. C. B. Roosevelt was driving his car at 9.30 a.m. in Queen's Road Central, when a Chinese girl ran across the road and collided with the vehicle. The girl was later taken to the Queen Mary Hospital.

Sixty of the strikers came out and were permitted to leave. The remainder evacuated at 3 o'clock, after they had been assured safe conduct. It was reported that they went to one of their union offices, but shortly thereafter scattered peacefully.

The Union Brewery, whilst occupying its old premises in Gordon Road, nearly two years was affected by strike trouble over the engagement of new hands to work in the new brewery.

DEATH OF MR. C.E. WATSON

Fatal Fall From Verandah

A commotion caused by a burglar alarm is believed to have been the direct cause of the fatal fall from his residence in No. 28, Carnarvon Road, of Mr. Charles E. Watson, the proprietor of Breweries Bookshop, in the early hours of yesterday. Mr. Watson fell from one of the windows in his flat to the street below. He was picked up and died soon after admission.

No witnesses, so far as can be ascertained, saw the fatality, and police are not yet in a position to verify the report that Mr. Watson was disturbed by burglars. But there is evidence which points to this, and it is believed that the deceased was actually chasing an intruder when he fell over the verandah.

Another report is to the effect that lights first went on in the neighbouring house owing to a disturbance caused by a burglar and that Mr. Watson used a chair to enable him to see better what was going on. Apparently the chair slipped, throwing him to the ground below. A torn curtain was mute evidence of the desperate effort the victim made to save himself.

BORN IN CHINA

The late Mr. Watson was born in North China 54 years ago and spent the early part of his life in Shanghai where he was educated.

In 1914 he married Miss Doris Benson, a member of a well-known Hong Kong family, a sister of Mr. O. R. Benson, of Messrs. Carroll Brothers, and also, together with a son, Ivor, aged 21, and a daughter aged 18, all of whom, are at present resident in Coulsdon, Surrey, survive to mourn his loss.

POPULAR OFFICIAL

Mr. Watson was an engineer by profession and one of his first appointments was that of Superintendent Engineer of the Chinese Section of the Kowloon Canton Railway. He later founded an engineering-concern in partnership with the late Mr. Christiansen in Sharnoon, Canton and for the last 10 years has been Secretary and Director of Public Works of the Municipal Council, Sharnoon.

He was a very popular figure in Colony sporting circles and was a keen freemason.

FINE RECORD

The late Mr. Watson had a very fine tennis record, having been Canton singles champion for several years and having assisted the Kowloon Cricket Club in all divisions of the Tennis League at one time or another. This year he was playing in the "B" Division with A. W. Ramsey. He was also a keen golfer.

Liked by all with whom he came in contact Mr. Watson's death will leave a big gap in the sporting activities of the Kowloon Cricket Club.

ANOTHER AIR LINK

As announced in "The Hong Kong Daily Press" on Wednesday in addition to maintaining a regular service between Hong Kong and Peiping via Canton and Shanghai, facilities will be provided by the Corporation by which it will be possible to link up at Canton with the South-West Aviation Corporation planes to Hanoi, and thence by Air France machines to Europe.

The Eurasia Corporation's service will with those provided by Imperial Airways, Pan-American Airways and China National Aviation Corporation, result in seven planes leaving Hong Kong every week.

Fares to be charged will be $25 to Canton; $250 (National Currency) to Shanghai; and $280 to Peiping, with reductions for return trips.

The Eurasia plane leaves again for Peiping to-morrow morning. Ordinary mail closes at 5 p.m. and registered mail at 4.30 p.m. to-day.

CUSTOMS CRUISER TAKES ENORMOUS FORTUNE TO SOUTH

Over 300 wooden cases containing the notes in different denominations were loaded on to the cruiser. The cases were taken from the vaults of the Bank of China and the Central Bank. At the jetty, all the iron grilles were closed and guarded by armed River Police.

Shut off by the huge Customs shed on the Bund, the sight of the loading activities attracted little attention from pedestrians. A small gang of workers completed the task smoothly in several hours.

The monetary cargo is believed to be the biggest ever carried away from Shanghai in a single trip. The same cruiser has transferred large quantities of silver and notes to and from Shanghai following the Government adoption of the new currency system.

NEW MEASURES

Measures for the retirement of the small currency notes in Kwangtung were announced by Mr. T. V. Soong, Chairman of the Bank of China, on June 26 in Canton. The total amount to be converted into legal tender notes is $37,846,000, the ratio being $144 Kwangtung

HOLLAND HOUSE

Ready For Occupation

Holland House, the latest addition to the Colony's office buildings, has now been completed, and several firms will go into occupation during the week.

The new block stands at the junction of Queen's Road and Ice House Street, and is owned by the Hong Kong Land Investment and Agency Co., Ltd. It is a fine, modern-style building faced with glazed tiles, designed for offices, with three residential flats on the upper storey.

The ground floor has been taken by the Netherlands Trading Society, which is moving into its new premises as from Thursday.

Messrs. Tilla and Edgar, brokers, look over premises on the first floor yesterday. The Mitsui Bussan Kaisha are also taking offices in the new building, of which some eighty per cent. of the accommodations has already been let.

EIGHT STORIES

The new structure, built on the lines of Marina House, is of eight stories. The ground floor is devoted to banking, and the first six floors to offices. The total floor space, excluding the ground floor, is about 24,000 square feet.

Besides the banking entrance at the corner, there are entrances from Queen's Road and Ice House Street.

An interesting feature of the new building is the residential quarters on the seventh floor. On this floor, residential flats, modern and compact, have been provided, and in order to catch the prevailing summer breezes, one of them looks out towards Battery Path and the other two towards south-east.

Messrs. Palmer and Turner were the architects for the new building.

Small currency notes to $100 national currency.

A period of six months, beginning from June 21 and ending on December 31 this year, has been set for the exchange of the notes. Before the entire withdrawal of the small coin notes, which were issued by the Kwangtung Provincial Bank and the Canton Municipal Bank, a proportionate reserve for these notes will be maintained by the Kwangtung branch of the Currency Reserve Board.

WHAT IS A MAN WORTH?

Some delicate ethical and economic questions have got mixed up in speeches made in Parliament about the salaries of British Cabinet Ministers. Whether a Cabinet Minister is "worth" £5000 a year is a question that has to be considered in terms of cash, though it is to be presumed that some of the merits of a statesman have values not easily assessable in pounds or dollars.

The rewards, of course, of office are for the most part not paid at all in cash. They are received in the form of honour, or ambition, satisfied, or in the sense of service freely rendered to the state. A new standard of reckoning, therefore, comes into being. The assessment, then, is likely to be made not in terms of worth but of need. How much does this or that officer of state need to carry out his duties efficiently and without indignity?

But it is not only in public work that the value of services depends on factors other than cash worth. It is sometimes suggested that no individual contributes in services more than this or that maximum in dollars a year—say 20,000 or 30,000 or whatever figure caprice may fix. That is obviously not true—a single idea may be worth untold millions. But it is equally true in fact that big salaries seldom are fixed solely on the basis of the monetary value of services rendered.

Nor do we come on a perfectly safe ground—as might be supposed—when we consider the wages of the rank and file of the workers. Here at least, it will be said, the only operative considerations are supply and demand, and remunerative costs of production. But even that axiom, nowadays, must be questioned. It has already been profoundly modified by labour's demand for a certain standard of living—a demand which has had the general effect of raising wages all round with the (to some) astonishing result that the higher costs of production have not ruined the employers; on the contrary industry as a whole has tended to gain by higher consumption.

It is easier, no doubt, to assess the cash value of a carpenter than a Secretary of State. But the assessment is not something absolute and in the nature of things. Actually, in proportion as the community acquires the habit of thinking in terms of other values, the cash payment tends to go up. The worth of a man's labour is likely to be more adequately assessed in cash when it is not assessed in cash alone.

LARGEST BLOOM IN WORLD

Burst Into Flower In U.S. Gardens

A specimen of the Amorphophallus Titanum, the largest known flower in the world, has suddenly blossomed for the first time in the United States, writes a New York correspondent in the "Daily Telegraph." It is in the Botanical Gardens in New York and was originally brought as a bulb from Sumatra.

For five years the huge plant has stood in the greenhouse more or less unnoticed, but within the past 10 days it has suddenly come to life. Recently the petals began to open, and soon it was blossoming at the rate of two inches an hour.

Every detail is being carefully recorded by expert botanists equipped with cameras and convales. Despite the heat of 95 deg Fahr. at which the temperature has to be kept, and the particularly powerful odour, resembling decayed fish, emanating from the bloom, large crowds of people are flocking to the gardens to see the flower. The plant is nearly 9ft. high, and botanists wishing to examine the bell of the spathe have to mount a step-ladder.

HEIGHT OF 11FT IN JUNGLE

The Amorphophallus Titanum is a native of the coast belt of West Sumatra, in the Dutch East Indies, and cultivated specimens have only been known to bloom seven times. At Kew, in 1889, 1901, 1926 and 1929, plants reached from 5ft to 6ft.

One grown in the Buitenzorg, the famous East Indian botanical garden, reached more than 5½ in 1924, and two bloomed in the Hamburg Botanical Gardens in 1929 and 1930.

It resembles the "Lords and Ladies" common to English hedgerows, belonging to the same natural order as the Arum, of the genus amorphophallus, which contains 75 species.

It was first discovered by Dr. Beccari in the Barisan Mountains in 1873. Beccari sent tubas and seeds to the Marchese Corsi Salviati, but the tubas rotted through being detained at Marseilles.

The seeds did well in the Marchese's garden, and he sent young plants to Kew at Beccari's request. It is reported to have reached as high as 17ft. in its native jungle.

The first flower transported was so ponderous that it had to be lashed to a long pole carried by two men on their shoulders. The first specimen to flower at Kew could barely reach the top of the spade or column, and could scarcely reach halfway round the funnel-shaped sheath.

The column was more than 3ft 3ins. high and 6ins. in diameter. The flowering stage was so rapid that

SHANGHAI ROBBERY

Reuters Manager Victimised

Chinese burglars entered the residence of Mr. C. J. Chancellor, general manager of Messrs. Reuters Limited, at 274-D Hungsiao Road, Shanghai, on June 17, states the North China Daily News, and escaped with silverware valued at about $4,000.

The looting was discovered by servants at 5 a.m. and it was found that the burglars—there were at least two—had climbed over the garden fence, cut a pane in a ground-floor window and entered by the window. They escaped into Chinese territory.

The most important loss was a pair of silver candlesticks dating from the reign of George II and valued at £100. Other articles taken were knives, forks and spoons.

Prince Konoe, the new Prime Minister in Japan.

FIRST WOMAN "FLIGHT" CAPTAIN

The first woman in Germany to be appointed "flight captain" is Fraulein Hanne Reitsch, a daring young airwoman and experimental pilot of the Institute for Glider Flying at Darmstadt.

She was promoted to this military rank by General Goering, for services rendered to German flying, especially by her aerial research work.

It was witnessed by few, since it unfolded at five o'clock, was fully expanded by 6.30, and was quite closed by 11 o'clock.

At Kew Gardens an official stated that there was no prospect of an English specimen blooming this year.

MacLeods Gather At Dunvegan

MacLeods from all over the world are being specially entertained this summer at the ancient ancestral home, Dunvegan Castle, Skye, where the first of three "at homes" was attended by over 200 clansmen and clanswomen, writes a correspondent in the "Glasgow Herald."

Dunvegan has been the home of MacLeod Chiefs continuously for 700 years, the most ancient part dating much earlier. It is believed to be the oldest inhabited castle in the country.

The tartans of the MacLeods and septes were vividly offset by the lovely surroundings of the castle—swathed in warm summer sunshine belying Skye's poetical name, "Eilean a Cheo" ("Isle of Mist").

The gathering was of a more local character than others which will follow, the bulk of the overseas MacLeods having indicated their intention of attending the July and August "at homes." Canadian MacLeods mingled, however, with the clansmen from all parts of Great Britain and Ireland.

THE "FAIRY FLAG"

Flora Mrs. MacLeod of MacLeod, daughter of the late Chief, Sir Reginald—who spends nearly all her time at the Castle—welcomed the guests.

She was gratified and astonished, she told me, at the world-wide response to her invitations, made through the Dominions and Colonial Offices and otherwise. An unemployed Welsh miner had written saying he was saving to come to Dunvegan, where his forefathers were born.

The historic relics, of which few castles can boast richer variety, were eagerly sought out recently by the clansmen.

Of premier interest, without question, was the "fairy flag," to be found, glass-encased, hanging on the wall of the drawing-room. The flag is sadly threadbare now, but recollection of its power in bygone clan battles sufficed to stir the clansmen as they gazed eagerly upon it. The "fairy room," where Sir Walter Scott slept—reached by a narrow, winding stone staircase—was another subject of eager inspection, as was the famed drinking horn of the great Chief, Sir Rory Mor.

MEMORIAL GATES

Outside two special interests were a tree planted by the King and Queen, then Duke and Duchess of York, when they stayed at the castle in 1935, and the new road approach, nearing completion.

The latter is preliminary to the erection of memorial gates to three brothers—Sir Reginald, Norman Magnus, who was Chief before Sir Reginald, and Canon R.C. MacLeod, the family historian. The gates are at present being made in Glasgow, and have been specially designed by a Glasgow architect, Dr. Colin Sinclair.

Among those present recently were the aged widow of the twenty-fifth Chief, Countess Ballet La-tour; Mrs. Arthur MacLeod Roger, Toronto; Mrs. MacLeod Boyer, New Brunswick; and Miss M. M. MacLeod, of the Department of Agriculture for Scotland.

CHINA REVIEW

Manchoukuo Five Year Plan

Probably one of the most important factors in regard to the development of Manchoukuo and her relations with Japan, has been the decision of the Hsinking Government to launch an economic, financial, and industrial expansion programme, which, following the lead given by one of her neighbours, is termed the Five Year Plan. It is reported in Tientsin.

Only the broad outlines of the Plan have been announced, but it is evident that it is to embrace eventually practically every economic and industrial phase of the life of the country.

It has been criticised by some observers as having been too hastily and sketchily drawn up. These observers point out that if the various scheduled developments are to be carried out according to the Plan, an immense amount of financing will be required. The latest reports received from Japan indicate that money is by no means easy there, and the raising of large amounts for financing the planned developments will meet with grave difficulties, it is stated.

Banking quarters are of the opinion that whilst there should be no difficulty in raising the necessary funds for financing developments over a long period, it will be practically impossible to raise the necessary funds within the period of five years, unless some provision is made for a period of "pause" during which the results achieved and the experience gained may be thoroughly sifted before proceeding on again.

Influx Of Smuggled Goods

Though strict preventive measures are being enforced in the interior districts, with the co-operation of the local authorities, definite preventive measures are still to be arranged to check the influx of smuggled goods through East Hopei to Tientsin. An original proposal, which has not been enforced, was that the Customs preventive officers be allowed to perform their duties on trains and in stations with the help of the railway guard.

Who should assume the responsibility for detaining the smuggled goods? That is the main problem awaiting a solution before preventive measures are effective at the East Station. The uncertain attitude on the part of the authorities concerned as to the procedure to be followed concerning the disposal of a cargo of smuggled goods recently enabled the safe removal of the goods by the smugglers in the presence of the Railway and Customs officials. Before this incident there has been no interference with the movements of smuggled goods.

Tremendous Progress Made

Commenting on the new Sino-American radiophone which was inaugurated in a series of conversations between Chinese and American officials, in which Madame Chiang Kai-shek and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt participated, the "Ta Kung Pao" states that a new era in communications between the two continents of Asia and America has been started.

Chinese administration of communications has made tremendous progress lately, asserts the "Ta Kung Pao," pointing out that Anglo-Chinese and Sino-Japanese radiophone connections were perfected some months ago and that similar arrangements for contacts with other world centres are even now in progress. The air line between the United States and China was established only very recently and this, with the newly connected radiophone, should not be merely conveniences between the Chinese and the American people but should enhance the spiritual and friendly co-operation existing between them.

The people of China, states the "Ta Kung Pao," in their present movement for national unification and self-strength, towards international goodwill, will consider this latest addition to Sino-American co-operation as a fine medium to further stabilize the peace of the world.

Economic Reconstruction Moves Ahead

In recent years economic reconstruction in China has entered the practical stage, and the Third Plenary Session of the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang which met in Nanking in March, 1937, had decided upon important economic reconstruction projects. It is, therefore, reasonable to expect rapid advancement in the economic field.

There is no questioning the fact that at this stage of our economic development, State capitalism is the best form of economic advancement we can adopt; however, at the same time there should be a suitable amount of protection to private economic enterprises, subject to limited control by the State.

There are two forms of State capitalism—one being the complete control and manipulation of private capital for the economic development of industries, and the other management and ownership by the State of industrial enterprises. The first form implies only control by the State in regard to production, quality, distribution, wages, and the treatment of labour, etc. whilst the latter means complete control of production by the State, and is similar to trusts and syndicates in their extreme form. Therefore, after the World War, State capitalism was enhanced by organization of socialized enterprises, such as electrical and communications enterprises, competition for foreign markets, and the acquiring of raw materials, as these require a lot of capital, by economic requirements in the preparation for war, and the necessity of intensive organization for alleviating the lot of the workers.

Call To China's Youth

A clarion call to the youth of the nation to volunteer for work in rural communities during the forthcoming summer vacation was sounded by Marshal Chiang Kai-shek in an interview at Kuling, according to reports received here.

Marshal Chiang said that whilst in school a University or middle school student must develop a correct philosophy of life. Secondly, he must study and understand the realities of Chinese life and the defects of Chinese society. Thirdly, he must make use of his vacations to learn a useful trade and to reconstruct Chinese society and rural life.

Marshal Chiang said that in initiating a movement for rural social welfare work amongst University and middle school students during the coming summer vacation the New Life Association hoped that the students of the country would rise up and share in the thrill of participating in the gigantic task of national reconstruction.

Chinese Farmer's Real Wages

An interesting series of investigations has been made by Mr. John R. Raeburn and Mr. Hu Kwong-hwa, of the Department of Agricultural Economics of the University of Nanking, regarding the real wages, as distinct from the money wages, earned by the Chinese farm labourer, the results from which are included in a small pamphlet entitled "Economic Facts," dealing mainly with the commodity value of the Chinese dollar.

The many thousands of small farmers in China, upon whose unremitting toil the whole of the foreign trade of the nation ultimately depends, know little and care less of such subjects as the gold standard, and trouble their heads not at all about the exact number of grains of gold which shall be purchasable by certain pieces of paper. They are, however, vitally concerned with the quantities of rice, and other products, which they are called upon to exchange for household necessities, and it is only through the study of the inter-relationship of commodity prices from which any sound judgement can be formed of the true return which the farmer obtains for his labour.

GERMANY MUST REARM TO ACHIEVE EQUALITY RIGHTS

Gen. Goering Addresses International Chamber Of Commerce Congress

WAVE OF ECONOMIC NATIONALISM

Four-Year Plan Has No Aggressive Design

Berlin, June 28.
General Hermann Goering speaking before the Congress of the International Chamber of Commerce here, compared the present day Germany with the Germany at the time before the National Socialists' advent to power. He pointed out that the German nation is now putting its whole strength into an effort to accomplish its great national and social tasks, and unemployment had been practically suppressed.

The speaker stressed the progress of mechanisation and the construction of motor roads and drew the attention of the audience to the great internal revolution which has taken place in Germany during the past four years. National Socialism, he said, had abolished class warfare.

Turning to Germany's relations with other countries, General Goering declared that as far as Germany was concerned there would be no new war. The entire German nation knows that the gigantic work to which Chancellor Hitler had called it can only be accomplished in time of peace. If other proof of Germany's desire for peace be required, General Goering said he need only to refer to her attitude in view of recent provocation by Red Spain.

In order to achieve her full equality of rights, Germany had no alternative but to rearm. On the other hand, in order to completely regain her equality, Germany had been compelled to establish adequate basis for the economic existence and prosperity of the German nation.

In this connection, General Goering then mentioned the colonial problem and said that Germany would never cease to emphasise the importance of this problem so long as her colonial desires had not been satisfied.

FOUR-YEAR PLAN

There was just as little aggressive design in Germany's four-year plan as Germany believed there to be in similar programmes in other countries.

"The four-year plan is in no wise incompatible with the building up of sound world economy," he said. "On the contrary, it is an important factor contributing to the world's economic recovery, as also certain political conditions which are likewise necessary for the future satisfactory development of world economy."

The fact that during and after a war the victorious states failed to differentiate between the property of state and the property of individuals is still felt to-day to be a formidable obstacle to the re-establishment of normal world economic relations. Unless Governments succeed in restoring the confidence and convincing the business people that their private property is intangible, no matter what political events may occur, it will be difficult to induce them to risk those mutual investments which are indispensable for world trade. The economic sanctions clauses of the League Covenant constitute another great obstacle to complete world recovery.

The Minister of Economics, Dr. Schacht, characterised the International Chamber of Commerce as an exponent of views of all economically active merchants and industrialists.

Turning to the problem of raw materials, one of the questions on the agenda of the International Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Schacht suggested the consideration of whether it would serve the international concord that great raw material resources could be opened or closed for or against individual nations according to the political points of view.

DEEPEER CAUSES

The President of the International Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Fentener van Vlissingen, in his address, first reviewed the economic developments during his four year term of office and then turned to the deeper causes of economic developments since the Great War. After attempts at an international co-operation had failed, a wave of economic nationalism set in. One of the gravest symptoms of international economic policy during the crisis had been the economic bilateralism which fortunately is now receding.

The speaker then pointed to the improvement of international economic relations during the past year. The conditions for international understanding in the economic field were much more favourable than last year, and it is now high time to see deeds instead of words. It was essential that the present favourable economic constellation should be taken advantage of in the interest of world peace, prosperity of nations and human civilisation. The International Chamber of Commerce should make every effort to realise that aim, the President concluded.—Transocean News Service.

NEW TELEPHONE LINE INAUGURATED

Long Distance Service Between Peiping And Nanking

Nanking, June 28.
Coming to a climax after months of preparation the new long distance telephone service between Peiping and Nanking was inaugurated at 10 a.m. this morning. chung, Mayor of Nanking who spoke with Chin Teh-chun. The charge for a call of three minutes is three dollars and eighty cents.

The new phone service is part of nine in the province, network. Tientsin, Paoingfu and Tientsin were all linked with Nanking and high notables in each place conversed with personages in the capital.—Reuter.

NEW RAILWAY IN HOPEI

SINO-JAPANESE INVESTMENT

Peiping, June 28.
Chinese officials here have decided not to approve construction of the Tientsin-Schichuan Railway, in Hopei, as a joint Sino-Japanese investment. General Chin Teh-chun, mayor of Peiping, is said to have made this plan.

"Aside from developing the Lung-yen iron mine and the Chinghsing coal mine, we are unable to carry out our promise to authorize co-operative projects," General Chin reportedly said. "Construction of the railway is impossible for the time being."

The Chinese were to have let contracts for the work by April at the latest but this has been postponed and the entire idea has now been shelved. Exploitation of the iron and coal mines and cultivation of cotton would be without value if the railway were not constructed.

The Chinghsing coal mine is located in western Hopei, on the Shanai Railway connecting Shih-chuan and Taiyuan. Construction of the proposed line would give the products a direct outlet to the gulf of Chihli by way of Tientsin. However, the iron mine is in Chahar Province, about 200 miles from the projected route.—Union News.

The plane had been stolen, together with another one, during a temporary lack of guarding at the hangar. The second plane was forced to effect an emergency landing near Biarritz, when the pilot could be arrested.—Transocean News Service.

OIL IS VITAL IN TIME OF WAR

New Wells In Trinidad

Experts have discovered vast new oil resources in Trinidad—unsuspected supplies that will make this British Possession a vital source of power in the event of war, states the "Bulletin" (Glasgow).

The recent visit to Trinidad of Sir John Cadman, chairman of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, and Government adviser on oil policy—has attracted world-wide speculation.

Trinidad has become the British Empire's largest producer of petroleum. The newly discovered supplies would provide amply for Britain's increased land, air, and sea fighting forces.

Sir John's visit is now believed to be the start of a vast scheme for developing and conserving Trinidad as the Empire's biggest emergency oil supply centre.

There is good reason to believe that Sir John's visit has been prompted by official inquiry on behalf of the Government," said the secretary of the Trinidad Leaseholds.

"Trinidad, which is producing more oil every year, is of immense strategic importance to the British Empire. It is the nearest source of oil supply to Britain, and the oil is shipped on an open and comparatively safe route."

"At the same time it is almost the focal point for the Dominions and Colonies, and would make an admirable naval and air base."

BRITAIN'S SALVATION

Sixteen companies—most of which are British—at present operate in the Trinidad oilfields.

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, of which Sir John Cadman is chairman, has at present no interests in Trinidad, but is virtually controlled by the British Government, which holds £7,500,000 Ordinary stock.

"In the event of another European war," a Whitehall official said, "it is quite feasible that Trinidad might be Britain's salvation."

"Lord Curzon once declared that the Allies floated to success on a tide of oil." His words would have an even greater significance in and future war, since oil has become ten times as important owing to the mechanisation of war."

Indians Hold Protest Meeting

Indians in Bangalore gathered at a mass meeting to protest against the marriage of a 66-year-old Indian to a girl of 16.

At the time of the marriage students arranged a demonstration, which had to be dispersed by the police.

Speakers at the meeting condemned the marriage as an "inhuman monstrosity" and adopted a resolution, urging the Government to legislate against such unions.

It was pointed out that the Sarda Act, now on the Statute Book, fixed minimum ages for marriages of men and women, but that it was even more desirable to legislate against disproportionate ages of the contracting parties.

Cricket Cuts and Comments

Youth To The Fore In Big Cricket

PROBABLES FOR ENGLAND SIDE AGAINST NEW ZEALANDERS

The first of the Test matches between England and New Zealand, at Lord's, is not due to begin for some time, writes a Home correspondent. As the trials are now over, and remembering what is happening on the county grounds—a much better guide to the form in general of four players to my mind—it is possible to have some idea concerning who will be asked to wear England caps. Suggestions, even at this early date, will not be out of place.

First of all, however, it is necessary to have a look at the form of the New Zealanders, for this will enable our selectors to decide whether English youth shall have its fling.

The Tourists have done nothing out of the ordinary and probably disappointed themselves as much as anyone else, so far, but there is danger in under-estimating them. Like most touring sides, they like the sun, and they did not have to much of it in their first matches.

That they have some good batsmen admits of no doubt, and so far as I have seen them, Carson, Page, Wallace, Hadlee and Tindill strike me as being likely to do well when they run into their best form.

Wallace seems destined to take over the mantle of Dempster, for he is a fine quick-footed and natural batsman.

Moloney should do well when he makes the most of his height, skill and reach, but slow-motion methods will not make him popular here.

Cowie, Gallichan and Moloney

look like providing the mainstay of the attack, which, however, seems to lack in variety. Apart from the fielding, which is of good class, we cannot say much more about them.

Unless, therefore, the side accomplish better things we may expect the English authorities to give a real try-out to youth, or to others who have not yet had a lot of experience in Test cricket so far.

THE PROBABLES

Here then are some players from whom we may expect to see our first team chosen:

Batsmen: R. W. V. Robins, E. R. T. Holmes—one of whom will probably be captain—Ames, Hammond, Barnett, Hutton, Paynter, J. Park, Leyland, James Langridge and Hardstaff.

Bowlers: Gover, Verity, James Langridge, Hammond, J. W. A. Stephenson, Farnes, Robins, Holmes.

Wicket-keeper: Ames, Maxwell. Hammond we must have. Hutton has surely played himself into the side as opening batsman with Barnett.

Maxwell could be tried as wicket-keeper, for Ames' abilities in the highest form of cricket are well known. Hardstaff and Parks should be thoroughly tested, and Stephenson is a genuinely fine all-round cricketer.

Verity has been rather stale so James Langridge should be given the chance to show what he can do.

That England should be a side well blended with experience and youth admits of no doubt

AN "INTERPORT" WEDDING

Mr. Gordon Burnett
And Miss O. Dalziel

A wedding of much interest to local sporting circles will be solemnised on Saturday afternoon at St. John's Cathedral between Mr. Gordon Cade Burnett, Manager of the "Sunday Herald" and "China Mail," and Miss Olive Dalziel.

Mr. Burnett came to Hong Kong from England in 1930 and his cricketing abilities more especially as a bowler were soon recognised. In 1932 he was selected for Interport honours and travelled with Mr. Eric Mitchell's triumphant Colony XI to Shanghai.

Mr. Burnett has played regularly for the Kowloon Cricket Club first XI and is also a keen tennis enthusiast being a regular member of the K.C.C. "B" League team and K.C.C. (2) mixed doubles side.

A few seasons ago Mr. Burnett also turned his interests to hockey and played for the European Y.M.C.A.

Miss Olive Dalziel is well-known in ladies hockey circles and has played regularly for the Y.M.C.A. Ladies in the Caer Clark Cup League. In February this year, Miss Dalziel gained Interport honours and played at right wing for the Hong Kong Ladies against the Shanghai Ladies. She is the sister of Mrs. Sybil Gardner, who is also an Interport hockey player.

Miss Dalziel is also a prominent tennis player and is a member of the Kowloon C.C. "A" mixed doubles team. Two years ago, partnered by E. C. Fincher, she reached the semi-finals of the Colony mixed doubles championship.

The Rev. H. W. Baines, Interport cricketer, will officiate at the ceremony.

EMPIRE GAMES

Australian Rowing Crews

Mr. E. E. Keary, who was appointed by the Australian Rowing Council sole selector for the crews to represent Australia at the British Empire Games next year, proposes to request the council to ask about 25 oarsmen if they would be available if selected for the games, and whether they would be able to train in Sydney for about six weeks.

No announcement will be made as to the personnel of the eight-oar crew for some little time yet, Mr. Keary said, that 10 men would be selected for the eight, but the selection would be restricted to oarsmen who would compete in open racing next season. The four-oar crew and sculler would not be selected until after the Henley-on-Yarra regatta, under directions from the Rowing Council.

The men Mr. Keary has selected to date are:—W. G. Thomas, W. J. Dixon, J. R. Burrell, E. R. Bromley, J. Fisher, D. I. Baggett, and A. B. Gould (N.S.W.), W. A. R. Farman, G. Yewers, D. Fraser, F. Lesouef (W.A.), J. Croker, W. McCann, and A. J. Gregory (S.A.), M. Gaskin, S. J. Elder, R. J. Jelbert, P. B. Jelbert, L. Jelbert, N. Jelbert, R. Aley, J. D. Neilson (Victoria), R. B. Scott (Queensland), and A. J. Chester (Tasmania).

Mr. Keary considers that the crew should be together on the Nepean River for six weeks before the race, which will be held on February 9.

Up to the present time New Zealand is the only dominion which has intimated that it will have an eight and four oar crews, but there are indications that a sculler will be entered by New Zealand, Ceylon, and England.

OMAR BROTHERS PROGRESS

From The Playing Fields

GOLFER-CRICKETER

Much has been made of the fact that the final for the women's golf championship was between daughters of famous golf professionals, states the "Evening Standard."

The statements is true, but, to Scots, Joe Anderson, the father of Miss Jessie Anderson, is far better known as a cricketer than as a golfer.

There is, or was, only one cricket match in Scotland which draws a crowd of which Lord's might be proud, and that is the match between Forfarshire and Perthshire.

In pre-war days at least it was always played in an atmosphere as tense as that of a Yorkshire v. Lancashire match, and for many Joe Anderson, a worthy Scottish Bobby Abel, was the mainstay of Perthshire.

By arrangement, only one English "pro" was allowed to play on each side, but he was generally a good one. Forfarshire produced Andrews, who took eight Surrey wickets for twelve runs at the Oval recently, and Smalles, Perthshire, who gave Schellfield Haigh his first chance, are now enjoying the still very useful services of Wilfred Rhodes.

HAMMOND'S DOUBLE CENTURIES

It was in 1823 that Walter Hammond scored his first century, and now after thirteen years he has just made his 120th. As a century maker Hammond has set up one record which may never be broken. Twenty-seven of his 120 hundreds were double centuries. No other English batsman approaches this record of big innings. Hendren has made 22 double centuries and Sutcliffe sixteen, while past records are C. B. Fry 16, Hobbs 15, K. S. Ranjitsinhji 14, W. G. Grace 13 and Philip Mead 13.

Bradman has a higher percentage of double centuries, for after making 59 centuries he has passed the 200 mark on 25 occasions. Hammond has exceeded 300 three times and Bradman six times.

FRANK WOOLLEY'S BOWLING

Frank Woolley is doing a lot of bowling for Kent this season, and bowling quite well. It is remarkable that Woolley should be doing so well in his fiftieth year, but at the same time it is a reflection upon Kent's bowling strength that there should be so much reliance on such a veteran.

In the previous three seasons Woolley bowled 96 overs and took only five wickets. Already this season he has bowled 97 overs and taken sixteen wickets for 17.87 runs each.

GIMBLETT TO REST

Harold Gimblett, the Somerset batsman, will be out of cricket for a fortnight, writes a Home correspondent. He underwent a medical examination recently, and was advised to take a rest. He has been suffering from a strained groin, and is to have treatment in London.

For to the match at Old Trafford Somerset played A. E. S. Rippon, whose most recent appearance in a county match was in 1929.

HUSKISSON FOR MANCHESTER

I hear that T. F. Huskisson, the Old Merchant Taylors' international Rugby forward, has had a business move to Manchester and will be working there most of the summer, writes a Home correspondent.

The Manchester club, which is captained by the Old Legian, J. Lee, would like Huskisson to play for them next season, but I understand there is not much likelihood of this happening. Huskisson hopes to be back in London by the time Rugby starts again, and it seems fairly certain that we shall see him in O.M.T.'s colours again on the new ground at Croxley.

SIR VICTOR'S SUCCESSES

Sir Victor Sassoon has had a remarkably good year in Hobbies racing. In addition to his two superb victories with Exhibitionist and a most popular win at Royal Ascot, he has been received triumphantly in Ireland, states the "North China Daily News." A short time ago the doughty Donoghue brought Sir Victor's colours first past the pace post with Phideas (Paros-Imagery) in the Irish Two Thousand Guineas at Curragh, by a neck from Spot Barrier. Now Phideas, son of a famous sire, has captured the Irish Derby. Sir Victor is no newcomer to success on the Irish turf. In 1935 Museum (Phalaris or Legatee-Imagery) won the Derby, the St. Leger and the Two Thousand Guineas, one of the most complete conquests Erin has ever known.

SKI CLUB'S PRESIDENT

Lord Lytton was in excellent form as a speaker at the Kandahar Ski Club Dinner to Prince Chichibu recently. As President he took the chair.

One of his predecessors as President was his son, the late Lord Knebworth, fine ski-er, fine mountaineer, and fine sportsman. It was on the night of a Kandahar dinner a few years ago that Tony Knebworth was killed in an air crash.

Lord Lytton is himself a skilled ski-er and skater, and his election to the Presidency was most popular.

Cubs Beaten Twice

New York, June 27.

Chicago Cubs, leading the National League, lost twice to-day, but their nearest rivals, the St. Louis Cardinals, were also defeated by New York. New York thus moved into second place and Chicago clung precariously to the top berth.

All three teams are very close, only separated by a trivial percentage.

The Brooklyn Dodgers won the opener against the Cubs eight to three and the night-cap six to three, Herman hitting a homer for Chicago.

New York hit 14 times against St. Louis, scoring eight runs, with the assistance of Ott's two circuit drives. Cardinals scored only once on six hits.

Boston beat Cincinnati twice, eight to one in the first and ten to five in the second game.

Pittsburgh won a single start against Philadelphia four to three.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York continued to win in the American League, beating Detroit nine to five. Rogell hit a home run for the Tigers, Selkirk for the Yankees.

Boston defeated St. Louis twice, Wilson blanking the Browns in the opener, in which the Red Sox scored eight. The night-cap was a battle. Clift and Knickerbocker each circling the bases and turning nine hits into seven runs for the Browns. Boston retaliated with 16 hits, and scored 11 runs out of them.

Cleveland and Philadelphia split a double-header, the Indians winning the first, seven to two, and the Athletics taking latter, ten to nothing. Easter pitched for the Athletics in the night-cap.

Chicago beat Washington five to three, Bonura and Hayes driving corners. White Sox had 16 hits to 10.

It was alleged that on the day in question defendant had beaten complainant with a whip causing her unnecessary injuries.

A woman named Chung Wal-chun, was fined $40 by Mr. E. M. A. Barnett yesterday when she appeared at the Kowloon Magistracy on a charge of possession of 318 Po Fui lottery tickets. She was arrested in Canton Street on information received by the police on Sunday.

AIR CARRIAGE LAW

Ruling In Croydon Gold Theft Claim

Judgment for Imperial Airways Ltd. on preliminary points in the action arising out of the theft of gold from Croydon Airport in May, 1935, was given by Mr. Justice Porter in the King's Bench Division recently, states the "Daily Telegraph."

F. M. Philippon and Co., of Rue Industrielle, Brussels, claimed damages from Imperial Airways Ltd. for breach of contract or duty in the carriage of bullion by air. The points for decision which arose on the defence put forward, and the judge's answers, were:

1. Whether the contract of carriage, contained in the consignment-note, was subject to the Carriage by Air Act, 1932.—No.

2. If so, whether the consignment-note satisfied the requirements of the Convention of Warsaw, of October, 1929.—No.

3. Whether the carriage was "international" and, if so, covered the requirements of the general conditions of carriage of goods.—No.

4. Whether there was, within the meaning of the convention or of the conditions, a special declaration of value, and payment made, and, if so, what effect this had in law.—No.

CONVENTION OF WARSAW. In his considered judgment Mr. Justice Porter said that the Convention of Warsaw came into force on February 13, 1933, following the ratification of five high contracting parties. Great Britain ratified on the next day, but Belgium did not become a party to the convention until last October, and was thus not a party at the date of the theft.

The convention applied only to "international carriage" where the carriage was between the territories of one high contracting party and another.

It had been argued, however, that the Court should look only at the terms of the consignment-note, which, though based on the convention, were not subject to it.

Those terms were contained in a book of the International Air Traffic Association. In his view the words "high contracting party" in that book bore the same meaning as when they were used in the convention.

In his opinion the words were confined to parties declared by the English Order in Council to the convention.

The carriage was, therefore, not "international" and the action, accordingly failed, with costs.

CHEERO CLUB

The last of the weekly dances will be held at the Cheero Club on Wednesday next after which there will be no more dances until the hot weather is over. Other fixtures at the Cheero will be announced later.

TEST CRICKETER

S. J. McCabe, the international cricketer, will be a competitor in this year's amateur golf championships in Australia.

McCabe is a member of the Manly club, and although he is expected to win, his presence in the field will attract interest.

LIFE BEQUEST TO MR. MACDONALD

Sir Alexander Grant, the biscuit manufacturer, in his will, which has been lodged in Edinburgh, has directed the trustees to set aside in trust for his grandson, Alexander Grant Laing, £40,000, and to pay the income to Mr. J. Ramsay MacDonald during all the days of his life.

Sir Alexander died on May 21, aged 72.

The will provides that on Mr. MacDonald's death the trustees are to accumulate the income for 21 years or until the grandson, Alexander Grant Laing, attains the age of 30. Then the capital sum and accumulations are to be made over to him or, in the event of his death, to his two brothers, Hector Laing and Robert Douglas Laing, equally, or the survivor of them.

Mr. MacDonald and Sir Alexander were close friends, and when, in 1924, Mr. MacDonald became the first Socialist Prime Minister Sir Alexander gave him a motor-car and the income from 30,000 shares in the firm of McVitie and Price for its upkeep.

When Mr. MacDonald ceased to be Premier the car was returned.

PADGHAM AND RYDER CUP

Alfred Padgham, British Open golf champion, is certain to be selected for the British Ryder Cup team—but that does not say that he will necessarily play in the match. He is every bit big enough to withdraw if he thinks his form does not justify his playing.

When he was beaten at Leeds by J. Cox, of North Shore, Blackpool, his play was by no means bad—he was one over four at the end of his match—but it lacked all its former sparkle.

His putter, which won him thousands of pounds last year, is now far from his best friend. He even seems to be in imminent danger of succumbing to that dread golfing disease—"getting stuck"—in other words being unable to start the club back.

"As a matter of fact I nearly scratched from this tournament," he said as he walked off the green. He is now going to take a complete rest until the time comes for making a decision about the Ryder Cup match.

SPRINGBOKS

Facts About Players

The South African Rugby Union players are now on tour in Australia. The following particulars are of interest:—

S. R. Hoymeyr (centre three-quarter), age 24; weight, 11st 11lb; height, 5ft. 11in. An attractive attacking player, thrustful, and with a nice side-step. He played at school first as a five-eighth, and later he was an outstanding performer in the Under 19 League at Stellenbosch University. He gained his first team colours in 1932, and in the same year was capped for Western Province, for which he has played regularly. Hoymeyr, who is a law student, follows in the footsteps of his father, who was a centre for the province in the early part of the century.

A. D. Lawton (wing three-quarter), age 25; weight, 12st 12lb; height, 5ft. 10in. A fine player, who has the ideal proportions for an aggressive winger. He is a rugged battler when set for the goal line. He first played senior football in 1933, and was chosen for the Western Province team in 1934, since when he has been a regular representative.

B. du Toit (second row forward), age 24; weight, 15st; height, 6ft. 1in. One of the lesser-known candidates for the Springboks' tour, who impressed by his form in the trial matches. After one match it was written of him: "He was never spectacular, but as a clever, honest worker, always up with the game, he could not be improved upon." He plays on the flank in the scrum, and was with Western Province before going to the Transvaal.

M. A. Van den Berg (lock forward), age 27; weight, 14st 11lb; height, 6ft. 1in. Regarded as the best line-out forward in South Africa, and a great player in the scrum, and no hooker has ever complained of lack of support from him. In 1923 he started business in Capetown, and had no time for sport until 1930, when he was an immediate success as a forward. He gained Western Province selection in 1932. He is also a Western Province water polo player. He runs his own ice cream factory in Capetown.

TRIBUTE TO WIFE

Sir Alexander directed the trustees to hold the residue of his estate and to accumulate the income for ten years after his death had added it to the capital of the residue. On the expiry of 10 years they are to make over two-thirds to his son, Robert McVitie Grant, and one-third to his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Norris Grant, of Laing.

In the event of his son and daughter predeceasing the period of the residue without leaving issue the trustees are directed to pay the residue to the trustees of the National Library of Scotland.

In his will Sir Alexander expressed his deep sense of gratitude to his wife "for all she has done for me and for the help and support she has given me during the whole course of our married life."

He stated that although the provision in the trust, disposition and settlement in favour of his son were greater than those in favour of his daughter, this was not because he bore her any less love and affection but because he had already made separate provision for her and her family.

S.C.C. FLAG ON CORFU

Gordons' Band And Pipers Attend

The flag of the Singapore Cricket Club flew at the foremast head of the P. and O. Corfu when the liner left Singapore homeward bound last week.

This was one of many tributes to Mr. J. M. Sime, President of the S.C.C., head of Sime, Darby and Co., Ltd., who is retiring after 27 years in Malaya. He and Mrs. Sime were given the most magnificent send-off ever accorded to private residents.

It was notable for the presence of the band and pipers of the Gordon Highlanders. Mr. Sime was, of course, a leading Scottish resident and many times Chief-tain of the St. Andrew's Society. The kindness of the commandant and officers of the Gordons in permitting this graceful tribute to two such popular residents of Singapore was much appreciated.

LONDON LANDMARKS

The handsome clock-tower at St. George's Circus, Southwark, which is to be removed because it obstructs traffic and re-erected elsewhere, will not be the first London landmark to "go abroad."

The most famous, of course is Temple Bar, removed in 1877 to Theobald's Park; while other stray monuments include the Wellington statue, which once crowned Constitution Hill and now overlooks the parade ground at Aldershot; the seven-sided obelisk that for centuries gave meaning to the name Seven Dials, but since 1822 has stood on Weybridge Green; the original Queen Anne monument from the front of St. Paul's, now at Hastings; and the original Aid Gate, which has wandered to Rothley Castle, Northumberland.

The lion which for long stood guard at old Northumberland House, Strand, now gazes across the river at Kew Gardens from the roof of Lion House, Isleworth; and the Town Hall, Swanage, boasts the old facade of the Mercers' Hall, designed by Sir Christopher Wren.

A NEW BUILDING

In 1923 it was decided to move away from Caine Road, and the present site (of 40,000 square feet) between Kennedy Road and Macdonnell Road was presented by the Government of Hong Kong, who followed up this generous gift by the additional grant of fifty thousand dollars to help towards the expense of building, and the foundation stone was laid by the then Governor, Sir Edward Stubbs, G.C.M.G., in 1925.

Conveniently situated near the Peak Tram, the College took the form of a lofty seven-storied building of red bricks. As the hill rises steeply behind, it has been easy to make exits and entrances on many different levels (these may be found on four different floors). There is a good approach from Kennedy Road, and another big entrance on the Macdonnell Road level.

St. Paul's School also has a very fine swimming pool (fed by a stream which flows down from the Peak). This is sixty-five feet long, with a depth of four feet at the shallow end, and is charmingly laid out with a tessellated pavement all round and has many windows which let in the morning and afternoon sun.

FINE LIBRARY

There is also a fine library with 1,000 volumes and a splendid Auditorium with stage for concerts and lectures. On Speech Days the hall has held six hundred people.

At one side of the building is a playground with swings and chutes for the younger children. Higher up is a big grass playground and tennis court for the elder pupils. There are at present 250 pupils who range from little girls of five years old to girls who are ready to take their School-leaving certificates, or to matriculate.

Little boys are taken in the junior classes up to the age of twelve, and besides all the day scholars there are also thirty boarders—since pupils come from such far-away places as Singapore and Shanghai, and even from Australia, while just recently eight children arrived from Jamaica.

EXCELLENT INSTITUTION

In addition to the usual school curriculum Mandarin is taught, and much attention is given to intoning this language. There is of course a Physical Culture class, and the older girls learn Domestic Science. A charming Kindergarten for the little ones has all the latest gadgets, and the small pupils are very keen on the singing class. The attractive summer uniforms of white, with a trimming of blue and white looks very fresh and pretty; and the bright faces seen in all the fifteen class-rooms sent us away with pleasant memories of this excellent institution for the Education of Chinese Girls.

SHERBROOKE CENTENARY IN AUGUST

Month's Celebration Planned By City

Plans are quickly rounding into shape at Quebec for the celebration of Sherbrooke's centenary. July 31 to September 4 have been officially set aside by the City Fathers in honour of the event when for over a month the Queen City of the Eastern Townships will take on a carnival air.

Founded in 1837, Sherbrooke is strategically situated at the junction of the St. Francis and Magalloway rivers in the heart of the Eastern Townships. Boasting a population of over 30,000, the city is the principal manufacturing centre for the entire Townships' 300,000 population. It is the home of the Quebec Central Railway, the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association and many important industries.

Mayor Emile Rioux urges all old residents of the Eastern Townships to visit the city during the centenary celebrations. "I make a special appeal to all those who have lived in the Eastern Townships to visit their old home and Sherbrooke during August," he said. "You will please your old friends and you will be amazed at the progress of your town."

YAUMATI COLLAPSE INQUEST

Crash Of Pile Driver

MISADVENTURE VERDICT

Circumstances surrounding the death of Mr. Claudio Senollo Mathias, one of the seven victims who lost their lives at Kansu Street, Yaumati district, on May 23, when a pile-driving machine which was at work, suddenly collapsed and fell across the road, were probed at an inquest held at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon. Mr. E. Himsforth sat as Coroner assisted by a jury comprising—Messrs. W. W. Hirst (foreman), Lu Hung-wat, and Sadick Osman.

Dr. G. H. Henry, medical officer in charge of the Kowloon Public Mortuary gave evidence of the post mortem examination and said that he found two ribs fractured and the spinal cord was almost completely severed.

Mr. G. S. F. Heywood, Assistant Director of the Royal Observatory, deposed that the wind velocity on the day in question was in the average of 12 miles per hour. There was a sudden increase shortly before 4 p.m. to a speed of about 45 m.p.h.

On being cross-examined, witness added that the maximum velocity of wind was not unusual but sudden. He could not say for sure that the velocity recorded at the Royal Observatory would be the same as that in the Yaumati district which was about 14 miles apart.

FIRMLY ERECTED

The scene of the accident was inspected by Mr. C. B. Robertson, of the P.W.D. In his report it was stated that the pile-driving machine tower was firmly erected. The overturn was caused by an exceptionally severe gust of wind. Kwal Ki, foreman of the Vibro Pile Driving Co., in evidence said that just before the accident he was working near the top of the tower, which was about 40 feet high. As he was descending, and was about 10 feet from the ground, he found it best to jump as he saw the tower swaying in the air as a result of the strong gust of wind. He landed on the ground and was rendered semi-conscious.

Corroborative evidence was also given by Mr. J. M. Abraham and other workmen who were working in the vicinity. The jury returned a verdict of death by misadventure.

At the tea interval the New Zealanders had scored 184 for seven wickets—
